Are spreadsheets, disconnected systems, and third-party reports limiting your visibility into project performance? COMPASS™ gives Owners and Project Managers direct control over budgets, costs, schedules, contracts, and reporting across their entire capital program.

Poor coordination and fragmented information can lead to delays, cost overruns, and difficult decision-making. COMPASS™ creates a centralized, cloud-based environment where project teams, consultants, contractors, and stakeholders work with accurate, up-to-date information while Owners maintain full oversight. With the support of Super Intelligence (AI), our AI-powered assistant, COMPASS™ further simplifies project management through intelligent data retrieval, automated summarization, custom queries, and streamlined access to information across modules and submodules.

Developed in collaboration with campus architects, senior administrators, directors, and project managers, COMPASS™ brings decades of capital program management experience into one integrated platform. From initial budgeting and expenditure tracking to cost forecasting, document control, scheduling, and executive reporting, COMPASS™ provides comprehensive tools supported by SI's intelligent assistance to reduce manual effort, improve accountability, simplify workflows, and deliver projects with greater efficiency, control, and confidence.
